Steve's Star Shines Again

It's Christmas, and high above the Appomattox Radio and TV Building, 460 West, a star shines brightly as a reminder of the star that shone down on the manager scene in Bethlehem so many years ago.

Steve Pool, owner and operator of the Appomattox Radio and TV climbs the tower each year to put the star in place. The star has been shining each Christmas for the past five years in the present location and for several years before that when the business was located downtown.

While it is Steve's intention that his customers, all residents of Appomattox County, and even passing motorists enjoy the star as a remainder of the happy holiday season it is also his wish that as you see the star you remember the true meaning of Christmas.
